

TK's "no-holds-barred, balls-to-the-wall" comedy has been said to be an infusion of Lenny Bruce meets Bill Hicks. His comedy can take an audience anywhere from dating to problems with racism. His quick delivery and timing has become his staple, along with his sharp writing. His work on The Best Damn Sports Show landed TK an Emmy nomination. From working the road to his work on the reality show Face the Family, his unique style is always prevalent.

No matter what he's doing or where he's performing, strap yourself in 'cause it's one hell of a ride. TK is known to say some of the most shocking things, and then explain himself with something even more absurd. His control of the crowd is one of his most compelling traits as a performer. From ooohhs and aaawws to ruckus laughter, the audience responds however this talented veteran of the stage desires.

TK hails from Dallas, TX. and brings a hint of good ole boy charm every where he goes. He has resided in Los Angeles the better part of the last decade, and has made quite a mark for himself. His Rebels of Comedy booking agency, regularly produces shows at the Hollywood Improv and the Spotlight Comedy Club. His tenure in the comedy world has held many lessons that this seasoned performer will never forget. Full of etiquette and respect for his trade, TK remembers those who came before him, and honors them with respect and professionalism.
